

GLOBAL FORUM ON RESPONSIBLE
BUSINESS CONDUCT

AGENDA

20-21 JUNE 2018
OECD CONFERENCE CENTRE
PARIS, FRANCE

About the OECD

The OECD is a forum in which governments compare and exchange policy experiences, identify good practices in light of emerging challenges, and promote decisions and recommendations to produce better policies for better lives. The OECD's mission is to promote policies that improve economic and social well-being of people around the world.

About the Global Forum on Responsible Business Conduct

The Global Forum on Responsible Business Conduct (the Global Forum) was launched by the OECD in 2013 to strengthen international dialogue on responsible business conduct (RBC), promote the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises (the Guidelines) and OECD due diligence guidance, and enhance the synergies between corporate responsibility instruments. The Global Forum gathers representatives from governments, businesses, trade unions and civil society to provide insights and exchange views on how business can do good while doing no harm, and thus contribute to sustainable development.

About the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises

The OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises are recommendations on responsible business conduct addressed by governments to multinational enterprises. They are the most comprehensive set of recommendations on responsible business conduct promoted by governments, covering all major areas of business responsibility, including disclosure, human rights, employment and industrial relations, environment, bribery and corruption, consumer interests, science and technology, competition, and taxation.

Format of the Global Forum

The Forum includes several events organised with partners:

On 20 June, the Roundtable on Responsible Agricultural Supply Chains is jointly organised with the UN Food and Agriculture Organisation \(UN FAO\) the specialised agency of the United Nations that leads international efforts to defeat hunger.

On 21 June, the Workshop on Due Diligence is jointly organised with the Responsible Business Alliance \(RBA\), committed to supporting the rights and well-being of workers and communities worldwide affected by the global electronics supply chain. In parallel, the Roundtable for Policy Makers will take place. The first session of the Roundtable is organised in cooperation with the UN Working Group on Business and Human Rights. During the second part of the afternoon the Roundtable for Policy Makers includes break-out sessions for policy makers only (see separate agenda).

In addition to traditional sessions in panel format, the 2018 edition of the Global Forum also includes "Deep-dive" sessions, which do not include formal presentations or panellists, but are designed to facilitate an open and dynamic discussion with participants from the floor around specific themes and questions.

Business Support for Civic Freedoms and Human Rights Defenders: Emerging Initiatives and Actions

*Organised by the Business &
Human Rights Resource Centre*

CC1

Global pressures on civil society space and attacks on human rights defenders pose both challenges and opportunities for responsible business. Companies across a range of industries are taking the initiative to support the fundamental civic freedoms that are the basis of the rule of law and accountable governance—and of profitable, sustainable business environments. This session will address this emerging agenda from company, civil society, trade union, and UN Working Group on Business and Human Rights perspectives.

Measuring impact of RBC practices

Room CC5

Although numerous studies have measured the impact of responsible business practices on company financial performance, it is harder to get a comprehensive picture of companies' impact on the environment, the people and the communities affected by their operations. This session will discuss emerging initiatives aimed at measuring impacts of company conduct that go beyond traditional CSR and ESG approaches.

NCPs: a mechanism to promote social dialogue

Room CC1
EN/FR Interpretation

Global value chains have created challenges as well as opportunities for promoting social dialogue as a means to establishing sound industrial relations and improved labour rights. The grievance mechanism offered by NCPs can act as an institutional springboard for social dialogue in global contexts. This session will discuss the role of NCPs in supporting social dialogue, with a focus on NCP cases involving DHL, Unilever and FIFA.

Taking a gender perspective to responsible supply chains

Auditorium

Persistent gender inequalities mean that men and women can be impacted in very different ways by company operations across global supply chains. Although participation in global supply chains can bring economic empowerment, it may also lead to greater risks of precarious work and harassment. This session will discuss experience in building a gender perspective into corporate RBC policies and practices.
